The unprecedented changes in the world has opened up the possibilities for newer opportunities and threats. We have to believe that the world is changing for good. This conference will discuss the next steps to be taken by us to build a secure future for our country. We will discuss the surprises and opportunities in store for us in the coming future and how we shall tackle them.

After the very successful IndiaGlobal conferences in University of Cambridge (2016), University of Denver (2017), MIT (2018) and University of Southampton (2019); this year due to pandemic the conference will be hosted in online mode. This provides an excellent opportunities for the delegates to join the event without travelling far. We will miss our usual networking but more friends can join us from across the world.
